DETAILED ACTION

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 39-41 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Applicant claims a method for segmenting nodes, however the steps to the method do not show how the nodes are segmented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-18, 39-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

With regards to claim 1, it is not clear what applicant means by segmenting nodes . It is also not clear what applicant means by.."In a multidimensional digital frame structure..." A frame is a data structure and is not a physical thing. It is also not clear what the nodes are segmented into.

Claim 39 recites the limitation "the descrambling key" in line 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 39 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Muratani et al(6,061,451).

With regards to claim 39, Muratani teaches a method comprising: scrambling a communication(scrambling data sent to a set top unit, Fig. 2), communicating the descrambling key to selected nodes in the network(col.

7 lines 46-49, the transmission of the descrambling key to a set top box is selective since not all set top boxes are intended to descramble the data), descrambling the communication at the selected nodes, in response to receiving the descrambling key(Fig. 2, descramble circuit

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kubota et al(5,787,171) in view of Kahn et al(4,606,042).

With regards to claim 1 Kubota teaches a method comprising: generating a selectable scrambling algorithm;(scrambling circuit generates a scrambling program) and scrambling communications using the selectable scrambling algorithm.(transmission data is scrambled using the scrambling program). Kubota does not teach scrambling a multi-dimensional structure(i.e. superframe). This is taught by Kahn(abstract). It could have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to scramble a superframe using the scrambling program in Kubota. The motivation being to programably scramble a superframe.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 19-38 allowed.
